Snowbound July 4.

Mrs. Josephine Gurley and daughter, Marie, who went with the Shriner's delegation from Springfield to Portland, Oreg., were in Bend, Oreg., when the fire occurred there last week, destroying a portion of the business district. Mrs. Gurley's brother, Lon L. Fox, formerly of Jasper, lost two garage buildings. Mr. Fox places his loss at $15,000 above the small insurance he carried. The fire started from an explosion in the Pioneer garage building owned by Mr. Fox. The Stone building occupied by the Central Oregon Motor Company and also owned by Mr. Fox was destroyed. The buildings rented for $265 a month.

Mrs. Gurley writes her sister, Nora Fox: "We had a great time the 4th of July playing in the snow, with storm rubbers and heavy wraps on. They were on top of a mountain with the deep blue waters of Crater lake below. We took a picture of our car stuck in a snow drift. To night we go to Redmond, Oreg., to hear Bryan. Yesterday afternoon we went to the famous ice caves. Brother tied a rope to a large boulder outside of the cave and we held to it and climbed 63 steps out in solid ice. In the cave great blocks of ice were cut out but the bottom has never been reached. We carried pitch torches and explored to our heart's content."
